A Disease that Wrecks the System
Every function is deranged, every nerve unstrung, every muscle and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which if unchecked, eventually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, it is dangerous, destructive. Stomach, delirium, convulsions often attend it, and cause swift dissolution. But when combated with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its foothold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That benign anti-bilious specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundaries, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote for the malarial poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitiated torrid atmosphere and brackish insalubrious water are extremely provocative. All emigrants and travelers should be supplied with it.

GENERAL JOHN A. DIX is dead.

The Grantsville Sun has suspended. One newspaper less in the State.

It is reported that the Bank of California will establish a branch at Bodie.

The Rockland Courier talks as if a good name is to be chosen rather than an Indian agency.

Our friend Mitchell, of the Grass Valley Union, has recently purchased a power press. We are pleased to note this evidence of prosperity.

There is no truth in the report that Fitz John Porter is seeking a cadetship for one of his sons. It happens that the General's children are all girls.

MAMMOTH CITY, in Lake District, situated 60 or 70 miles Southeast of Bodie, is said to contain about 1,000 inhabitants, with a prospect of soon outnumbering Bodie.

JUDOK KIRKPATRICK declines to accept the Democratic nomination for the position of Mayor of Virginia city. The nomination would undoubtedly be an empty honor.

The Empress of Austria is a great favorite with the Hungarians, among whom she prefers spending her vacations to being Queen in Vienna. The truth is that the Queen finds more hunting in Hungary than in Austria.

The German Director of the Post writes to Postmaster General Key that neither American nor any other letters have been opened or delayed in the German Empire intentionally and from political motives.

GOLMAN'S report, just published, shows Patterson's sub-committee, which last Summer visited Indian Territory, to have cost over $17,000. The details have made something of a sensation among Senators.

MECHANICS get $60 a day and common laborers $15 a day, in Buenos Ayres. Book-keepers get $20,000 a year, and extra zeal as a manager brings $75,000. The paper dollar is worth three cents in gold. A loaf of bread costs $3.

COLONEL BOB INGERSOLL has much to say concerning the devotion a man should show to his wife and children, and we presume the Colonel practices what he preaches. But if his wife should want a divorce she could easily move infidelity on Robert.

MR. H. A. CHARLES, one of the oldest members of the San Francisco Stock Board, retires from that institution to act as Secretary of the Julia, Blackhawk and other leading companies, having been elected to the office of the late B. S. Kellogg.

We learn from an exchange that "recently at Andover, a woman gave birth, to triplets, and one hour after, in the same house, her married daughter followed with quadruplets, boys and girls." On the principle that three of a kind beats two pair, the old woman is entitled to the stake, but the girl may get even on the next deal.

CALIFORNIA continues to be convulsed from center to circumference, and all because of the new Constitution. The bewildered voter gasps at the deluge of alleged benefits and calamities which the press and rostrum pours upon him for his consideration, and all to change one word on his ballot. The agony will soon be over, for May 7th is election day. Old Sol will rise on the 8th whether or no.

SAYS the Austin Reveille: In the Recorder's office may be seen a map of the town of Geneva, Lander county. The town is, or rather was, situated at the mouth of Birch Creek canyon, some ten miles distant over the mountains and about fifteen around by way of Smoky Valley. Not a soul lives there; a few wood choppers and haulers live a little further up the creek, but the town site is deserted. The wall of three or four stone buildings still remain to indicate the spot whereon a city stood.

THE Harper's Weekly of the 26th has two telling cartoons from the pencil of Nast. One represents the cringing negro bidding his "kind" ex-slaveholding master good-bye, and telling him he does not like to be "killed with kindness" but will go to the "cruel Yankee" up North. The other is called "Warning Out," and represents a snake labeled "Solid South," just thawing out before Uncle Sam's hearthstone, and his head is raised as if about to strike. A sword marked "U. S. G." hangs near and encircled around it are Lincoln's immortal words, "With malice toward none, with charity to all."

THE SPECIMENS.

The Carson Appeal still insists there was no occasion to change the offices around in the Capitol, more particularly objecting to the transfer of the mineral cabinets. Certainly no one will claim that the cabinets are at all conspicuous in their present position, whereas all must admit that they can be seen to much better advantage in the rooms now occupied by the Attorney General, to which place it is proposed to remove them. The change from darkness to light is the proper move, and all who are familiar with the case will endorse the action of the Commissioners in ordering the transfer.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Washington Republican has no faith in the stories that Senator Carpenter intends to be a free lover in politics.

"Confederate Cross Roads," the Cleveland (Ohio) Herald spitefully remarks, "is now situated in the District of Columbia."

In the opinion of the Cleveland Herald (rep.) the "Confederate boys are kindly doing all the work for the Republicans in 1880."

Ex-Secretary Bristow is reminded by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that the Kentucky Republicans are more unanimous for General Grant now than they were in 1876.

The Philadelphia Times believes that if, when he comes home in the Fall, General Grant should find things looking pretty well, he will be the last one to stand in the way of the third term scheme.

If the Democrats succeed in carrying a majority of the California Congressmen who will be elected next September they will have a sufficient number of States to elect the next President in the event of the contest going to the House of Representatives.

The most stalwart of the stalwart Republican organs the Republican of Washington, warns the brigadiers that "the man who saved the Union will never consent to its peaceful surrender to its sworn enemies, and should history repeat itself under the inspiration of treason the reckoning will be a fearful one to rebels and traitors. There will be no amnesty to such at the close of another struggle."

THE Independent says that at no time since the formation of the mining camp of Cherry Creek has that town awaited with so much anxiety as at present the result of developments on the lower levels. The town is now situated with abandonment on one side, and on the other side a condition of life and prosperity such as its mineral resources, that all believe it possesses, have warranted long ago. At the Star mine, with each successive level downward, the body of ore has been found to increase in size, and now should it be found on the 600-foot level with this continued ratio of increase, it will establish for long time to come the permanency and prosperity of the camp, and will so establish a feeling of confidence in the minds of all capitalists that other mining property here may then be disposed of. A development of a large body of ore on the next level of the Star will be everything for the camp, and a barren level will indeed be a wet blanket.

A CLEVER ROGUE.—A gentleman of great experience in the commercial world cashed a check at a London bank for £1,100, taking the whole in £100 notes. He was only a few yards from the bank when a person resembling a clerk, bareheaded and with a pen behind his ear, touched him on the shoulder, saying: "Beg your pardon, sir, will you allow me just to take the number of these notes again? I won't keep you a minute." The gentleman, taken off his guard, handed the notes over to the supposed clerk, whom he followed into the bank. After giving the former time to reach the top end and return, he met the gentleman at the door saying: "Please walk this way; that gentleman will attend to you in a minute," pointing to a clerk who was deeply engaged. Five minutes elapsed before the gentleman could draw the clerk's attention to his case; and he was thunderstruck to find that this officer knew nothing about it. The other clerks were equally in the dark. Of course, no time was lost in going to the Bank of England, but too late; the clever rogue had been before them and obtained gold for the notes.

THERE was outrageous fraud in a Philadelphia pie eating match. The contestants were three in number, and one of the largest variety theatres was crowded with spectators. Three pies were placed on a table on the stage, and the referee said "Ready—go." Each man grabbed a pie, and shut his mouth on about a quarter of its surface; but there was no swallowing, for the pie was filled with leather, straw and nails.

A VERY rich man said: "I worked like a slave till I was forty to make my fortune, and I've been watching it like a detective ever since for my lodging, food, and clothes."

ENGLISH farm laborers make no more than $2 50 a week and eat coarse bread, American cheese, a very little American bacon (once a day) with turnips and mangel wurtzel beets.

THE courts have frequently placed a value upon kisses, the price varying from a few dollars up into the thousands, according to the luciousness of the kiss and the depth of the defendant's pockets in such suits. Now the New Jersey ladies have arranged a scale of prices for hugs. They are quite reasonable in their demands, showing a proper appreciation of the dull times and the scarcity of money. They also give evidence of having studied the subject and learned the kind of hugs that command the highest price. Hugging sociables have been inaugurated in Trenton, where a committee of erst gay bachelors, but now staid matrons, has fixed the price as follows, the proceeds to be given to the poor: Ten cents a hug if the girl be between 15 and 20 years of age; 5c. if she be between 20 and 30; 25c. if she be a young widow and $1 if she be a married woman.

We shall hear nothing more of the Glastonbury sisters, Abby Hadsasah and Julia Eveline Smith, the brave girls of Connecticut, who, for half a century have been trying to maintain the principle that taxation and representation should go together. They have fought off the tax gatherer and tried to vote, but all to no purpose. The collector seized and sold their cows, and the polls were closed against them. Last year the youngest of the sisters gave up her life and the contest for her rights in disgust, dying at the good old age (for a maiden) of 85 years. On the 10th instant the surviving member of the Smith sisters was married at her home to Amos C. Parker, of New Hampshire. Both bride and groom are in their 87th year. And this reminds one of what "Doreas P. Anyroyal" said in her recent lecture at the theatre: "Love is a good deal like the measles—if you don't get it all out of your blood it is sure to break out sometime."

PHOTOGRAPHY IN BANKING.—The London News reports that the Bank of France has for sometime past employed a photographic detective to examine suspicious documents; and more recently has placed an invisible studio in a gallery behind the cashiers. Hidden behind some heavy curtains the camera stands ready for work; and at a given signal from any of the cashiers the photographer secures the likeness of any suspected customer. It is also reported that in the principal banking establishment in Paris several frauds have lately been detected by the camera, which under some circumstances exercises a sharper vision than the human eye. Where an erasure has been made, for instance, the camera detects it at once, let the spot be ever so smoothly rubbed over; while a word or figure, that to the eye has been perfectly scratched out, is clearly reproduced in a photograph of the document.

VIRGINIA has a law preventing the intermarriage of persons of different races, and by reason of the enforcement of the Act, Edward Kinney, a negro, and Mary S. Hall, white-skinned, now find themselves in the penitentiary, just entered upon a five years' term of penal servitude. The variegated twain have been unlawfully living together, and being threatened with prosecution last October, went to Washington and had the nuptial knot tied according to the laws of the District of Columbia. They then returned to Virginia, were indicted, tried and convicted, and on appeal the State Supreme Court affirmed the judgment. An effort is being made to induce the Governor to pardon them, and it is said he may do so provided they will leave the State.

RUSSIA is becoming afraid of her own people. She has held the whip until she has driven them to a state of desperation. Now that the autocrat has them down she is endeavoring to keep them there by oppressive laws and tyrannous enactments. Governor Generals have been appointed over six of the most populous districts with perfectly despotic powers, and it is probable that the iron heel of cruelty will crush the people still further in the dust. Russia is piling up wrath for the day to come. No class or nationality of men will remain silent and inactive forever under oppression. The day of judgment may be long of coming, but it will come at last.—[Sacramento Bee.

"OLD WHITEY," the war horse of President Hayes, died at his home in Fremont, Ohio, on Thursday night, aged twenty-nine years. He entered active service in 1863, and was the hero of thirty battles, chiefly in Virginia. In one of the battles Gen. Hastings, who bestrode him, was dangerously wounded. He was very spirited, and smelt the battle afar. In 1865 Mr. Hayes sent his uncle Sardis Burchard as a present, and he was ridden from Washington to Fremont. He was buried in the President's grounds, and will have a tombstone.

SOME people when they make a loss sit down despondent; others go to work all the harder and make a gain that more than covers the loss. There is a good moral to the following. At the battle of Shiloh an officer rushed up to Grant and said, "Shenard, Schwartz's battery is took." "Well, sir," said Grant, "you spiked the guns before they were taken?" "Vat! schpike dem new guns? No Shenard, it would spoil 'em." "Well then, what did you do?" "Do? vy we went right in and we took 'em back again."

MEN admire their opposites. Your parson admires a soldier; a musty lawyer, the curled darling of fashion; and a newspaper reporter cannot conceal his respect for the man who gets up a first-class oyster stew. N. Y. Com. Adv. Augustus says he admires his opposite. She lives in the house just over the way and is the belle of the town.

NOTHING can reach out farther than a cough in church. It may come from the remotest corner in the rear, but its echo tickles the throat of those in front, and touches the ushers, and floats from the choir to the minister, and never releases its hold till it has wrung a sympathetic explosion from every victim. Perhaps you've noticed it.

WHAT CHILDREN SAY.

[From the Philadelphia Bulletin, April 14.]

In conversation with a Bulletin reporter this morning in reference to General Grant's position on the question of a third term Mr. George W. Childes said that the tone of all his letters in regard to the matter were to the same effect—that he has made no intimation of his desire for the office or that he would accept it if offered to him. This is in accordance with a letter received at Washington from a travelling companion of General Grant, who writes that the General says he will not be a candidate for the Presidency under any circumstances, and that he does not want to re-enter public life and will decline a nomination to any public office when the time comes. Naturally this is attracting a good deal of attention, but it does not seem to surprise the real friends of the General, who have always been reluctant to see him dragged once more into the field of politics, and believe that a due regard for his happiness requires that he shall be permitted to live beyond and above the turmoil of partisan politics. They believe also that he will be a much greater and more effective force for good in the country during the remainder of his life if he should be permitted to remain the foremost private citizen in the country, a man with whom all administrations would advise in any great emergencies, and who in that position would receive for the first time the greatest reward for his many laborious and brilliant services to the country in the affection and confidence of his countrymen, regardless of party or section. The very general expression of good will towards him all over the country, and the certainty that if he were to express a desire for the nomination he could at once have it, are probably more pleasing to General Grant and more satisfactory to him than would be an actual nomination. The General is well posted about what is going on in this country in regard to a third term, and will no doubt give his views upon the subject upon his arrival home.

THE inventor of the Gatling gun conceived the idea of it while thinking about a seed planting machine which he wanted for his father's fields. Although nominally a Connecticut man, Gatling belongs by birth to the South.

AN exchange says: "You can't advertise enough in a week to last a whole year any more than you can eat enough in seven days to last 365 and yet some men, so-called business men, seem to think so."

MAN can do many things, but there is one thing he cannot do—he can't button on a collar, just after entering his thumb nails, without looking up in the air.

To preserve a good joke—put it in an almanac or rent it out by the year to circus clowns and negro minstrels. In this way specimens have been kept fifteen or twenty years.
